Structured guidance for meaningful careers

A 3-hours workshop for (former) academics, who want to:

- Learn how to discover and research career options that fit their background and priorities
- Develop clear criteria for evaluating opportunities based on fit, not just titles or prestige
- Assess specific roles systematically and articulate their reasoning to hiring managers

PROBLEM WE SOLVE

Many academics don't know what career options exist & they lack a systematic way to evaluate opportunities. As a result, they either pursue narrow roles, waste time on poor fits, or feel paralyzed by uncertainty.

This workshop gives you a framework for mapping potential career paths and evaluating specific opportunities—so you can identify good fits, make informed decisions, and demonstrate to employers why a role makes sense.

WHAT YOU GET

- A framework for discovering and researching career options
- Practice developing clear criteria for evaluating opportunities
- Before/after examples of effective career path assessment
- Systematic approach to evaluating roles and articulating your reasoning to hiring managers

PRACTICAL INFO

- 3 x 50-minute sessions with Q&A after each block
- Hands-on exercises and frameworks included
- Limited to 12 participants for focused interaction
- Interactive online session

WHO IS IT FOR

- PhD or equivalent research background
- Leaving academia or early in industry (0–2 years)
- Lacking a clear long-term non-academic direction
- Targeting business or industry roles
- Seeking strategic clarity, not just application tactics

Not a fit if you're only looking for generic resume tips or want to stay in academia.
